Wayne County Public Libraries Extend Borrowing Privileges to All Wayne County Residents

On April 1, 2008, Morrisson Reeves Library, the Wayne County Contractual Library (WCCL), the Cambridge City Public Library, the Centerville-Center Township Public Library, the Dublin Public Library, and the Hagerstown-Jefferson Township Public Library will begin permitting Wayne County residents and those who own property in these localities to directly borrow items from their circulating collections. A Public Library Access Card (PLAC) will no longer be required for individuals living in Wayne County who wish to borrow materials from any Wayne County public library.

To register for a library card under the rules of the new reciprocal borrowers agreement, individuals must first be a registered patron and in “good standing” (i.e., not owing fines or fees) at their home library. In addition, any individual wishing to register for a card will be required to present, in person, government-issued photo-identification. If an individual does not possess government-issued photo-identification, another current photo-identification card that contains the individual's name and a recent piece of official mail (such as a utility or telephone bill) that shows the individual's name and current home address will be required. A signed agreement (i.e., a borrower's card application) will also be part of the registration process. All individuals registering under this program will assume full responsibility for the return of all borrowed materials and/or the payment plus processing fees for any borrowed materials that are damaged or lost.

For more information on how to apply for these library cards, individuals are encouraged to contact their home library.
